Annual Tarot Forecast

Prepared for Susan Smith

10/24/2016

SUMMARY

In 2017 your love life will be a roller-coaster ride. As you are coming out of a break up in the beginning of the year, it will take some time for you to grieve, heal and learn to move on. It will not be easy as the beginning of the year will find you still broken over the past. It will take some effort on your part to put yourself back out into the social scene and make yourself open and receptive to a new relationship.

A great step forward in March, as you begin to find your groove again, will then find you stumbling for the next few months as you go back into the past instead of working on your future.

Things will rapidly pick up, however, starting in July- August. Not only is a relationship on the horizon, but it is very likely to turn into THE relationship. Get ready for a whirlwind romance and a promise of a great future, as the tide changes in the fall of 2017.

What will start as a gloomy and somber year, will end as a year full of hope, renewed optimism and love.

JANUARY

New year will not fix old wounds. It is clear through the month of January, that you are still hurt and are desperately trying to get over the loss of your previous relationship. The feelings of hurt, rejection and defeat will follow you throughout the month. You knew that there isn't always a happy ending, and here is yours.

You will need to do your best during the month of January to try to put your life back together and put your past where it belongs: in the past. You will need to concentrate on the present and the future in order to allow yourself to heal and move on.

FEBRUARY

In February, the feeling of frustration and anger will persist. You will, at times, feel restless and wish to jump into the dating pool with both feet. The universe, however, will gently remind you that you are not yet ready, as your state of mind is still not settled. At times you will feel that you're losing power and control over your own life. Accompanying emotions may include a loss of self-esteem and pessimism. Just do your best to camouflage or compensate for your inability to control the situation: after all, not everyone needs to know your deepest and darkest fears. Make sure you keep a keen eye on your words and actions: you will be more tempted to speak or act impulsively. So keep yourself in check to make certain you don't say or do something you will later regret.

MARCH

By March, you will feel ready, and, more importantly, willing to get back to life. You will be happy to put yourself out there to get involved in the social scene and ready to find a partner. You will be bursting with newly-found confidence, warmth and vibrancy. Others will feel your energy and be attracted to you instantly. So expect lots of attention and romantic opportunities coming your way. You may also find that in the process of finding a mate, you will find new friends along the way.

APRIL

Don't be surprised to hear from (or about) your ex in April. Be very careful, however, because even a little walk down memory lane will have you reminiscing about the past and not concentrating on the present or planning for the future. It is important to explore the memories of your past. It is even more important to make an effort to not get stuck there. Otherwise, you will be prohibiting your own progress of finding a new relationship. Use the past as a lesson learned and move on.

MAY

The general mood of stagnation and hindrance on the romantic front will spill into May. Beware: there are no external indicators of obstacles and challenges ahead. The only thing blocking your way to emotional happiness is YOU. You may find yourself questioning if you will even find a happy relationship or, if a relationship is something you want anyway. Beware of too many voices around you at that time giving you too much advice. Even though they are well-wishing, they will only confuse you, or worse, make you think there is something wrong with you if you are not yet questioning your desire to be in a relationship. It is perfectly fine, at this time, to take a time out from a social scene to regroup and figure out a path forward. Just take care to not give up on your long-term goals of finding happiness in a relationship.

JUNE

The difficulties of the past few months will begin to subside in June. You will find yourself becoming more open to change and self-acceptance. You will have been able to reflect on what did and did not work in the past and have changed your perspective and approach. You will have acknowledged that you do, indeed have options, and will no longer wish to play the role of the victim. In this month, you will begin to free yourself from some of the limiting factors of the past. It will be a perfect time to start cleaning out skeletons from your closet. Allow yourself to let go of old patterns of behavior and preconceived notions.

JULY

Finally, in July, your luck will turn. Even if you will not feel any differently, know that the Universe has a plan for you it was just set in motion. You will be entering a new positive phase in your life that will allow you to meet suitable and /or potential partners. But make sure YOU are open to new experiences. Be open to letting fate take you in a journey. New relationship opportunities will be coming your way. What will be important, however, is not what happens, but how you deal with and learn from them. Whatever happens in July, at the end of the month, you will be left full of hope and renewed optimism.

AUGUST

August will find you focusing on a long-term vision of finding a relationship that has potential of 'forever-after'. You have assessed your options and are finally aware of your own strengths and weaknesses. You are now fully ready and committed to bring the RIGHT type of relationship into your life. Your search for love will be methodical and strategic. The Temperance card shows that you are on the right path that will eventually lead you to happiness. It will be very important to keep your eyes on the goal at that time and to not be tempted by any temporary or impulsive flings, as those will only serve to distract and derail your efforts of finding love.

SEPTEMBER

A whirlwind romance is on a horizon in September. So buckle up - it will be quite a ride! This relationship will not take any hostages. It will progress quickly and immensely. September will find you totally infatuated with the new relationship, wishing you could spend as much time with the new partner as possible. The Eight of Wands is a 'full-steam-ahead' card. It is also a card of Mercury in Sagittarius, which means that as long as your mind is made up, this relationship will have far-ranging and expansive effect. So enjoy every moment of it.

OCTOBER

In case you wondered, back in September, if your newly found object of desire is just a temporary fling, October puts your mind at ease. You are certainly at a beginning of a romance. October will force you to rethink your dating tactics, however. You will find yourself slowing down your raging hormones, going back to the beginning and pressing the 'redo' button. You will begin to take baby steps to get to know your new partner, in order to develop a deeper and more meaningful relationship.

NOVEMBER

Your October relationship strategy will pay off in November, as you will start to see your new relationship blossom. You will begin to connect on a deeper and emotional levels and find a definite mutual attraction. You will feel as if you have finally met the match of your lifetime, because this relationship will appear effortless and uncomplicated. You will be finding yourself falling in love - as you formulate a balanced and committed partnership. Keep in mind, however, that the cards can only show you the way: it will be up to you to cultivate and grow this relationship to withstand the test of time.

DECEMBER

There is no better way to end a year than with the World Card. It suggests that you will finally see that your single life has come to an end and you have found the right match. Your relationship will rapidly start to climb to new heights and you will find yourself discussing its next phases with your partner. Whether it's moving in together, engagement or just long term planning, nothing will be off the table in December. As you say good bye to 2017, you will have a strong understanding of opening a new chapter in your life. Enjoy the love in 2018.
